retromodern

written by louise bannister

Thursday, 24 December 2009 08:00

Retromodern's philosophy is simple: to lovingly restore one-of-a-kind retro pieces while offering a sustainable alternative to mass-produced products. The demand for retro stuff is increasing making it harder to find the right piece, so Retromodern search the country for unwanted vintage pieces and create something that looks new while still retaining a retro style, design and feel. Their aim is to be as ecologically-minded as possible.

frankie magazine is a national bi-monthly based in Australia, aimed at women (and men) looking for a magazine that's as smart, funny, sarcastic, friendly, cute, rude, arty, curious and caring as they are. subscribe here

One of my New Year's resolutions is to save up for ...

- A car
- A holiday overseas
- A little getaway somewhere in Australia
- A house
- Save? That's what credit cards are for!
- A new wardrobe
- I'm a spender, not a saver
